

CV Jesper Dammeyer

Jesper Dammeyer, PhD is Associate Professor of Psychology at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark. His research career has focused on people with sensory impairment (congenital and acquired deafness, blindness, and deafblindness) and the variety of psychological consequences it might have for social, language, and cognitive development.